Manager of New Bank of America Branch Named

VERNE L. HUGHES
... To Head Bank

Verne L. Hughes has been named manager of Bank of America's new Sepulveda-Hawthorne branch, opening in mid-July, it was announced today by Jesse W. Tapp, chairman of the bank's board of directors.

Hughes comes to his new assignment from the Pacific-Fruitland branch in Vernon, where he has been assistant manager for the past two years. While in Vernon, he was active in civic affairs and was vice-president of the Exchange Club.

Born in Idaho, he grew up in the Long Beach area and started his banking career there in 1945 as a teller for the People's Bank of Lakewood which became a part of the Bank of America system in 1955.

Hughes prepared for his banking promotions with courses at the American Institute of Banking. He also was awarded a Bank of America-Giannini Foundation scholarship to the Pacific Coast School of Banking, University of Washington.

Before starting his banking career, he attended Long Beach Junior College and the University of Southern California. A former nationally ranked tennis player, he is vice president of the Tennis Patrons Assn.
